

Athena

(Myth)

Hello, my name is Athena. I am the goddess of wisdom. My father, Zeus, was angry with my mother, so he turned her into a fly and ate her. He did not know that she was about to give birth to me. He soon became ill with a horrible headache and cried out. The other gods came and split his head open. I jumped from my father's skull fully grown. I am pictured on the seal of California.

Dress as a Greek goddess. Bring in a poster-size Seal of California with the picture of Athena (Minerva) and show it to everyone.

*Walk Through The Ancient World © CWE, Inc.
www.californiaweekly.com*