

Coercive Acts

The Coercive (Koh-ur-siv) Acts were used by the British to try and restore order in Massachusetts after the Boston Tea Party. The colonists nicknamed them the Intolerable Acts.