

Martha Washington

Hello, my name is Martha Washington. Until I married my husband, George Washington, I had never gone outside the colony of Virginia. Instead of staying home during the war, I followed my husband into the battlefield. I spent the cold winters at Valley Forge and Morristown. While there, I organized the women of the camp to help sew shirts, knit socks, and mend clothes. My presence lifted the spirits of my husband and the soldiers.

While speaking hold up a pair of warm socks.
When done speaking, walk over and give them to your husband, George Washington.

Walk Through The American Revolution © CWE, Inc.
www.californiaweekly.com