

Mary Draper

Hello, my name is Mary Draper. I wanted to help the Continental Army during the Revolution so I decided to melt down all of my family heirlooms (air-looms). They were pewter items, and made wonderful musket balls for the soldiers. I know my things are important to me, but so are the freedoms for which we are fighting.

Performance Instructions: Dress as a colonial woman and carry small metal objects. After speaking, kneel down and pretend to melt them down in a fire to make musket balls.

Walk Through The American Revolution © CWE, Inc. www.californiaweekly.com