Persian Empire

The Persian Empire began in 550 BC with Cyrus the Great. One of the largest Empires in history, it expanded from North Africa to India. The Empire developed many trade routes as well as advancements in mathematics and astronomy. The Persian expansion ended by Alexander the Great in 331 BC.